

“Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.”
Hebrews 11:1

Substance-the real physical matter of which a person or thing consists and which has a tangible, solid presence: the quality of having a solid basis in reality or fact: the quality of being dependable or stable: the quality of being important, valid or significant: the most important or essential part of something; the real or essential meaning: the subject matter of a text, speech, or work of art, esp. as contrasted with the form or style in which it is presented.

Evidence- the available body of facts or information indicating whether a belief or proposition is true or valid: information given personally, drawn from a document, or in the form of material objects, tending or used to establish facts in a legal investigation or admissible as testimony in court: signs; indications: obvious to the eye or mind.

Hope- a feeling of expectation and desire for a certain thing to happen: a person or thing that may help or save someone: grounds for believing that something good may happen: a feeling of trust. Want something to happen or be the case. Intend if possible to do something: cling to a mere possibility: hope for a favorable outcome. It is human nature to always find fresh cause for optimism. Faith- trust in God has revealed, and may be defined as that trust in the God of the scriptures and in Jesus Christ whom He hath sent, which receives Him as Savior and Lord, and impels to loving obedience and good works.

- For salvation, faith is personal trust, apart from meritorious works, in the Lord Jesus Christ, as delivered for our offences, and raised again for our justification. (Romans 4:5, 23-25)

- As used in prayer, faith is the “confidence that we have in him, that if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us (I John 5:14, 15)
- As used in reference to unseen things of which Scripture speaks, faith “gives substance” to them, so that we act upon the conviction of their reality. (Heb. 11:1-3)
- As a working principle in life, the uses of faith are illustrated in Hebrew 11: 1-39.
